BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

Pahokee to celebrate Freedom Festival

PAHOKEE—The countdown has begun. Only six more days until Pahokee's Fourth of July spectacular, the Freedom Festival, explodes. Pahokee Chamber of Commerce President Jim Bennet predicts this year's fest, organized by the chamber, will be the best yet.

Among the special events at the fest include the First Annual Freedom Fest Parade which will feature the debut performance of the Robert O. Lampi Alumni Band and will also include the Shriners. Other special events will be the Freedom Fest dance, the fireworks spectacular, booths full of food and fun, WSWN's gospel program and other entertainment in all shapes and forms.

Setting the mood for the Fourth activities will be the Freedom Fest Dance, to be held Friday, June 30, beginning at 9 p.m. at the Pahokee Elks Club. Donations of $20 per couple will be requested at the door. Party Line will provide music.

Another pre-fest event will be the three-act play, "They Run In Our Family," to be performed at the Prince Theater, Monday and Tuesday, June 2-3, beginning at 8 p.m. Adult tickets are $5, while children will be admitted for $2.50.

The parade will hit city streets at noon, Wednesday. Marchers will gather at the Masonic Lodge on Larrimore Road and proceed down East Main Street to Lake Street. The parade will disband at the Loula V. York Library.

Robert O. Lampi, retired band director at Pahokee High School, will lead the parade as grand marshal. Lampi will also lead the drum band, made up of former members from across the nation.

The theme of this year's parade is "Salute to the States," and all flags in the union will be carried by local boy and girl scout troops. Uncle Sam is also scheduled to make an impromptu appearance at the parade.

Another special addition to this year's fest will be the drawing of the 1984 Ford Bronco II, valued at $12,500. Drawings for several prizes will be held throughout the fest, Wednesday.

Prince Theater performance set

PAHOKEE—Local residents will perform the three-act comedy play, "They Run In Our Family," at the Prince Theater, Monday and Tuesday, June 2-3, beginning at 8 p.m. Tickets for the play are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The cast of 20 in the play written by Donald Payton includes: Donell Jarriel as Coach Pennywinner, Sandra Jarriel as Agnes Pennywinner, Carman Salvatore III as Principal Gillee, Don Thompson as Dr. Andrews, and Jo Hatton as Mrs. Alonzo Steel. All profits from the play will go directly into the Prince Theater program.

with the Bronco being drawn at close of the day. Tickets can be obtained for $30 from the chamber office, or by contacting Lynda Moss at 924-5501.

There will be a tent and grandstand set up at the waterfront to provide shelter from the sun during the fest.

Among the booths at the fest will be the Lion's Club's annual dunking booth and a football throw booth sponsored by the Pahokee High School Athletic Council and football team. Other booths are being sponsored by: Shiloh Baptist Church, Pahokee Women's Club, United Methodist Youth Fellowship, Seekers Class of the United Methodist Church, Beta Omicron Sorority, Little League and the Christmas Light Committee.

Also, a combined community choir will sing during church services, Wednesday evening, at Prince Theater, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested in attending can contact Sandra Jarriel.

A complete schedule of the day's events follows:

11 a.m.-7 p.m.: Elks Club barbecued dinner (chicken and ribs), Elks Lodge
11:45 a.m.: City officials' tricycle race, chamber office
12 a.m.: Parade
2-7 p.m.: Booths open on waterfront
2:30 p.m.: "Sing on the Lake" WSWN gospel program
2-6 p.m.: Chamber Museum tours
2-6 p.m.: Shriners fire prevention film shown every hour, Prince Theater
3-6 p.m.: Youth activities, waterfront—watermelon spitting, pudding eating, sack race and tag of war, ages 3-5, 6-9, 10-12
4:30 p.m.: Baby crawl (12 months old and younger)
5 p.m.: Critter race, all ages
5:30-7 p.m.: "Sing on the Lake"
7:30 p.m.: Community religious service with combined choir, Prince Theater
9 p.m.: Fireworks, waterfront

Police sweep nets 43 arrests

BELLE GLADE—Two nights of combined police surveillance in the Fifth and Sixth streets area resulted in the arrests of 43 people on 52 charges last week.

Belle Glade Police Inspector Mike Miller reported that as a result of the increasing level of street crime, police affected "selective enforcement policies" Wednesday night, June 20, and Friday night, June 22.

"We apprehended just about every type of street crime conceivable," Miller said, adding charges varied from carrying concealed firearms and possession of narcotics to gambling and past warrants.

The "police sweeps" are actually a fairly routine police response to increased criminal activity, Miller said. The department performed two similar sweeps during the winter months, he commented.

Sweeps are not always limited just to the Fifth and Sixth Street areas, but are targeted for any area where street crime has been heavily reported.

GCI inmates to continue shaving

BELLE GLADE—Sunni Muslim inmates at Glades Correctional Institute will continue to be kept clean shaven despite their religious beliefs.

County Judge Don Adams denied seven GCI inmates their request for a restraining order which would have allowed them to grow beards, in a written ruling, Wednesday, June 20. "I had to balance interest in religious rights against security and other interests of the institute," Adams said.

GCI and Department of Correction representatives testified, in a hearing April 30, that beards would aid potential escapes, making detection much more difficult.

"It was not an easy decision. By no means did I think this was a wild goose chase," Adams said.

The inmates did fulfill two of the three requirements in the case, he continued. The plaintiffs proved their religious sincerity and also provided evidence showing beards are a deeply rooted principle in their religion.

However, the security interests of the institute, in this particular case, overrode other concerns, Adams said.

Birthing center unveiled during dedication

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE—As officials dedicated the Glades Child Birth Center, Sunday, June 24, inside the facility a 6-pound, 7-ounce baby boy commemorated the event with his first breath of air.

Thelma Dukes, of Belle Glade, gave birth to Currianno Steven Marshall, the ninth child to be born in the brand new center, at 2:50 p.m. Sunday. Simultaneously, local, county, state and federal representatives gathered on the front lawn of Glades General Hospital to officially open the new birth center, operated by Florida Community Health Centers, Inc. and designed to provide high quality, home atmosphere obstetric services to farmworker families throughout the Glades.

Fred Diaz, executive director of the Florida Community Health Centers, Inc., looked back on the three years of hard work and planning which made Sunday's ceremonies possible.

"We had a long gestation period, but now I'm just happy to have it finished," he said. "Now, it's just a matter of getting things started."

Billy Sandlin, director of the Office of Migrant Health Division of Primary Care Services, in Rockville, Maryland, said the high quality of care given by the birth center at a relatively low cost was the facility's biggest asset.

"I'm convinced this is going to have a drastic impact on Belle Glade and the Glades area," he said. Similar centers are popping up across the nation and have proven extremely successful, Sandlin added.

Local officials expressed their appreciation of the Florida Community Health Center's efforts in putting the birthing project together.

Pat Lennon, administrator at Glades General Hospital, said, "We are just absolutely overwhelmed by what it (the center) will provide."

Claude Tindall, Belle Glade city commissioner, said he was very proud to represent the city in dedicating the center. The facility will help fill one of the city's long standing needs, he said.

Other speakers at the ceremony included Dr. Carl Brumback, director of Palm Beach County Health Department, Lois Hill, supervisor of the state's primary health care program, and Annie Mizelle, vice president of the Florida Community Health Center's board of directors.

Tri-City League officials discuss WMD

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE—Glades officials should not assume South Florida Water Management directors are ignoring agricultural interests, rather should open lines of communication, according to speakers at a special meeting of area municipal leaders, Wednesday, June 23.

Dalton Yancey, executive director of the Florida Sugar Cane League, urged Glades officials to contact SFWMD directors. "We might have friends up there we just don't know about," he said.

Glades officials and area agricultural interests need to voice their opinions at water district board meetings, Yancey continued. "We need to be over there and be part of the process and a lot of the times we just haven't been out there."

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas Altman said he would ask the Belle Glade City Commission to appoint a SFWMD liaison and urged other municipal officials to follow suit.

The special meeting of the Tri-Cities League, which includes municipal leaders from South Bay, Belle Glade and Pahokee, was held at the Belle Glade Country Club. The roundtable discussion was organized after officials expressed concern over recent appointments to the SFWMD Board of Directors made by Gov. Bob Graham.

Five appointments have been made in the last two years, including former Clewiston resident Timmer Powers.

Yancey noted the board has changed drastically in the last year, but urged Glades officials not to jump to conclusions.

"Just because these people are new lets not write them off," he said. "My main thing is lets work with them and let them find out who we really are."

Clarence Knecht, chairman of the Southern Florida Conservancy District, pointed out the water district's great influence over the Glades area mandates that city officials try to cooperate with directors. "This area, totally dependent on agriculture, is totally dependent on their policies," he said.

Yancey and Knecht also urged area officials to suggest replacements for outgoing board director Robert Clark, of Broward County. Yancey said the Florida Sugar Cane League is currently studying a list of candidates for the position and promised to advise city officials upon the completion of the study.

Pahokee Councilman Ronnie Graydon told

Shaving—

"You can't look at the rights of the plaintiffs in a vacuum," he stated, citing a 1982 Georgia case as proof that a court must balance contrasting interests.

Among those who testified for the defense at the April hearing were GCI Superintendent Robert Turner and Department of Corrections Inspector General David Brierion.

The seven plaintiffs were Abdul Khalid Inuka Amin, David Goudy, McKinley Peeples, Kenneth Currington, Claude Brown, Denis Cobbs and Nathaniel Clay.

Arrests—

ly concentrated, Miller said. Recent complaints about purse snatching, made at the June 11 City Commission meeting by a group of residents, aided police in pinpointing the target area for last weeks sweeps, he added.

Among the more unusual cases Wednesday night was the arrest of two men on the charge of exposing minors to harmful films.

Miller said Willie Earl McGee, 20, 683 S.W. Sixth St., and Augustine Jocelyn, 32, 224 S.W. Third St., were apprehended showing pornographic films at the Jocelyn Disco to a group which included juveniles.

In other police cases during the week:

Willie Tillman, 300 N.W. 11th St. lot 39, was arrested Saturday, June 23, for aggravated battery, charged with hitting his sister over the head with a metal pipe. Patrolman John Ryan reported the incident occurred during a fight between the two at Hodge's home, 840 W. Ave. A. Hodges was treated and released from Glades General Hospital.

Shirley Ann Harden, 32, 416 S.W. Ave. B Place, apts. 18-19, was charged with aggravated assault, Thursday, June 21. A Belle Glade woman told police Harden pointed a gun in her face and threatened her late Thursday afternoon at the wash house located at 425 S.W. Ave. C.

5 charged with battery

SOUTH BAY—Five city residents were charged with aggravated battery, Wednesday, June 20. Wayne Collins, 20; Nathan Kennedy, 24; Jissie Coley, 21; Freddie L. Johnson, 25; and Ray Bush, 18, were all issued notices to appear in court. Patrolman Doug Davis reported he arrested the men Wednesday, morning at 14 N.W. 11th St.

Yancey the Pahokee Council would write a letter of recommendation.

Knecht said in the past the water district has been an important friend to Glades interests. "If it wasn't for the flood control project (SFWMD) you folks would not be in an economically viable position."

Yancey echoed these comments, saying he was pleased the State Legislature, with its recent wetlands bill, had indicated agricultural interests would be guided by SFWMD, rather than the Department of Environmental Resources (DER).

Agricultural interests recently lost a good friend with the retirement of SFWMD Executive Director Jack Maloy, Yancey said. However, he added that while area farmers should be concerned at this loss, there was as of yet no need for alarm.

FRED DIAZ, executive director of Florida Community Health Centers, spoke at Glades General Hospital, Sunday, June 24, during dedication ceremonies for the Glades Child Birth Center.

8 injured in 20-mile bend accident

Eight Haitians were injured after a van crashed into the bridge abutment at 20-Mile Bend on SR 80, Sunday evening, June 24.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper Calvin Floyd said there were no deaths. All eight were treated at hospitals for injuries, varying in severity.

The driver of the van, Francois Linage, 423 S.W. Ave. B, Belle Glade, was charged with careless driving. Floyd reported that apparently the eastbound van was travelling too fast, drifted off the road and crashed into the abutment. No one was thrown from the van, he said, adding that passing motorists help the injured out of the vehicle.

Those injured include: Deise Dimanche, Labroche Madrig, Jeannie Laureat, Luc St. Louis, Jacqueline Limbe and Madeleine Laureat. All are residents of Belle Glade. One person has yet to be identified.

Injured were transported to Glades General, Good Samaritan, JFK, and Humana hospitals. Glades General officials report both Dimanche and Laureat were released.

To enable Glades officials to get better acquainted with the management district, Knecht distributed a packet of information on current board members.

Only three board members were appointed prior to 1983. Stanley W. Hole, a civil engineer out of Naples, was appointed to the board in 1976. Jupiter Island resident Nathaniel Pryor Reed, chairman of the U.S. Department of Air and Water Pollution Control, was appointed to the governing board in 1978. The third veteran board member is James Neil Gallagher, an engineer out of Orlando.

Recent board appointments include: Dr. Kathleen Shea Abrams, associate director of the Florida Atlantic University-Florida International University Joint Center for Environmental and Urban Problems, Dade County; John F. Flanigan, real estate attorney, North Palm Beach.

Tim E. Powers, president of Indiantown Gas Company, Indiantown; William Sadowski, former state representative and attorney, Miami; Kent Price, agricultural extension agent, Okeechobee.

Among those who spoke at Wednesday's meeting was longtime Belle Glade resident, Bert Roemer who talked about SFWMD's history.

More than 30 officials from the Glades attended the meeting, including County Commissioner Bill Bailey and Mark Foley, candidate for County Commissioner Dennis Koehler's District 3 seat.

Birthing center—

The center has been operating since early June. Diaz noted response from area mothers has been great. "We just have mothers from all over coming to us and saying can I come and have my baby there."

While stressing that the center will have an immediate impact on the area, Diaz said there are still some kinks to be ironed out. The next project is to work toward obtaining Medicare reimbursement funding.

Sister Timothy Galbraith, center director, said staff had not encountered any major crises so far. While declining to specify a peak level of operation, she said the nine births already performed at the center was nowhere near peak capacity.

According to Florida Community Health Care statistics, the center should meet the needs of 1,000 Glades families annually. Prior-ty will be given to low income farmworkers and Haitians. Only low risk pregnancies are performed at the center.

Costs are computed on a sliding scale. Galbraith said families will gain a significant savings through the center.

Care at the center is provided mostly by a team of midwives, who work in conjunction with physicians. Deliveries are performed right in the patient's room, which itself is designed to suit the entire family. Mothers are released from the facility from 12-24 hours after the birth.

Any high risk cases are immediately transferred, under an obstetrician's supervision, to proper facilities.

The center is open 24 hours a day. More information can be obtained by contacting the center at 305 96-6571, ext. 477.

Council - PMDC workshop slated

PAHOKEE—The Pahokee City Council, at its meeting Tuesday, June 26, scheduled a joint workshop meeting with representatives of the Pahokee Marina Development Corporation to discuss the 50-year marina agreement.

The meeting is set for Monday, July 9, at 7 p.m.

The council previously discussed amongst themselves ways of escaping the agreement with PMDC in a workshop held Tuesday, June 12. At the time Council President W.E. McKinstry said PMDC representatives would get their chance to approach the council.

At the June 12 meeting, Mike Stauder, city attorney, told council members that if PMDC has failed to honor one of the many clauses in its agreement with the city, then the council may be able to nullify the agreement.

In other business at the council's meeting, June 26:

✓The quality of water remains a top council concern as a resident issued his complaints about the drinking water's taste and odor. "It tastes like a mouthful of mud with a little bit of bleach in there," the resident noted.

Ed Balmer, assistant utilities director, said there was not much that could be done about taste and odor as long as the water was pumped from Lake Okechobee. The addition of a few different chemicals to the treatment policy could improve the water somewhat, he said, promising to bring a report to the next council meeting.

Despite taste and odor, the water is healthy, Balmer stressed.

✓City officials will meet with Health Department representatives Tuesday, July 3, in West Palm Beach, in a pre-hearing to discuss the loss of pressure in the city's water system on May 22. Health Department officials say the city failed to notify them about the pressure drop. Attorney Mike Stauder reported that if the issue is not resolved at the July 3 meeting, a hearing would be held Thursday, July 12.

✓Rashley reported the city was losing a significant amount of money due to a water billing error for the Suds and Duds laundromat. The business had been charged about $17.50 monthly for the last several months, although its previous six-month water bill average was about $450. Rashley said the laundromat's manager reported the billing error that day and requested the meter be repaired as soon as possible. Balmer said he would order a new meter, Wednesday, June 27. Council members also asked Balmer to check meters for error throughout the city.

✓Jim Suddarth, city engineer, reported that representatives of the University of Gainesville research team, TREEO, visited the wastewater plant last week and were impressed with the improvements that have been made.

✓The council appointed Dudley Linn, new city building inspector, to the county's Overall Community Development Advisory Committee.

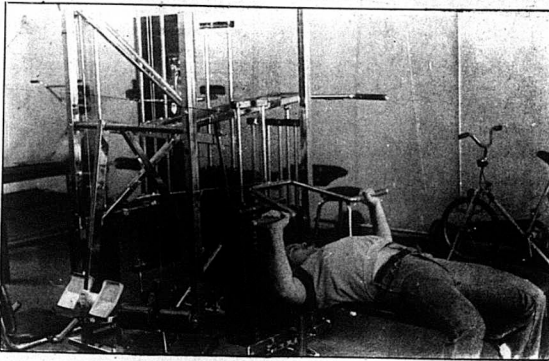

✓Council members agreed unanimously to reimburse the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce about $1,555 used to purchase 50 state flags for the Freedom Festival Parade.

✓An old police vehicle will be donated to West Tech, where auto classes learn to rebuild engines.

✓The council approved an interlocal agreement with Palm Beach County which could double the city's paving funds, if county commissioners raise the gas tax from two to four cents. The County Commission is slated to vote on the gas tax proposal Tuesday, July 10.

✓The Council requested Police Chief Carmen Salvatore write a letter, asking the owners of the Shop & Go store, 379 Bacom Pt. Road, to make efforts to curtail loitering around their establishment. A neighbor of the store, Royal York, told the council youth disturbances from the area were becoming more and more frequent.

✓Mayor Duncan Padgett was asked, in a council vote, to request in writing to William Joiner, lessee of the Pahokee Harbor, that the marina facility be better maintained. Councilman Walt Rashley said the harbor is becoming an eyesore, noting he has complained twice to the council in the last year about its appearance.

BELLE GLADE PATROLMAN Fernando Sainz works out in the city's new weight-lifting facility.

Cops utilize weight room

BELLE GLADE—City police and fire personnel are getting in shape, taking advantage of the weight-lifting facility recently installed in the old city hall.

Belle Glade Police

Sgt. Bill Bullock said the 16-station weight machine was installed back in March. Officers have been participating in a voluntary weight lifting program on their own time.

Patrolman Fernando Sainz said the program was a significant asset for the department. "You never know when you're going to have to run for five blocks, this should help us keep in shape."

"It shows us that the city cares about our well being."

Bullock said currently the facility is only being used by certified police and fire personnel. Hopefully, in the future the program will be expanded to include officers' wives and families, he said.

BG Time Saver robbed

BELLE GLADE—Police are looking for a suspect in the armed robbery of the Time Saver store, 9 N.W. Ave. L, which occurred Tuesday evening, June 26.

Detective Mike

Johnson said the suspect is described as a black man, about 5-foot-9, 175-180 pounds. At the time of the robbery, the man was wearing a mask, dark shirt, dark pants and was armed with a sawed-off shotgun. Anyone with any information on the suspect, or the robbery is asked to contact Johnson at 996-7251 or Crime Stoppers at 689-TIPS.

The robbery was reported at about 10:52 p.m. Tuesday. Patrolman William P. Kenny and Johnson said a lone man entered the store, demanded money from the cash drawers and fled on foot.

Election calendar set

BELLE GLADE—Two seats on the Belle Glade City Commission, currently held by Thomas Altman and Charles Goodlett, will be decided in the city's municipal election slated for Tuesday, Sept. 11.

City Clerk June Boglioli, this week, announced the election calendar. A run-off election, if needed will be held Tuesday, Sept. 18.

The first-day to qualify for the election is Friday, July 27, and the last day to qualify is Friday, August 10. Copies of candidate requirements and campaign guidelines are available at the clerk's office at city hall.

Skeet shooter wins medals

BELLE GLADE—Jerry Arline, assistant superintendent at Glades Correctional Institute, won an overall gold medal for skeet shooting in the Annual Florida Police Olympics held last week.

Arline scored 98 points out of a possible 100 to win the event, by a one-point margin over the defending champion. With the two men tied going into the final round, Tuesday, June 19, at the Palm Beach skeet range, Arline netted a perfect score to take the gold.

Competing against only fellow correctional officers, Arline also won a gold medal in the trap shooting event.

Dr. David T. Evans

Everglades Presbyterian Church

The price of rebirth

Certain religions, mainly Hinduism, believe in the rebirth of the soul after death in other bodies, humans or animal. Christians believe a man must be born again to have eternal life.

Early in his ministry Jesus was visited by a Pharisee named Nicodemus. He came at night to find out more from this carpenter from Nazareth, who had already made a name for himself.

Jesus startled Nicodemus with the statement, "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born anew he cannot see the kingdom of God."

Nicodemus did not understand this concept. He could not think of physical rebirth where a person would return to his mother's womb.

This learned man could or would not take in Jesus' spiritual ideas.

Probably one of the problems today is that most of us are so materially and physically oriented we cannot understand the scope of the spiritual. Christianity has aligned itself so closely with the material and secular world that spiritual things seem odd.

Baptism in the early church signified a radical change involving a break with the past and a new start in life. When the Holy Spirit comes upon a person in baptism the spiritual change takes place.

Most of us can say this is what we believe with our fingers crossed. Yes, you become a Christian but this just means being a morally good person. This really isn't any different from any other morally good person.

Most people today aren't really interested in a radical change because we don't want to be different. This leaves many as lukewarm believers.

Change in our moral and spiritual character implies beginning life anew, forgetting the past and looking forward to a new future. As Paul says in Second Corinthians, we are new creations.

Further, we enter into the Kingdom of God with a childish spirit of adventure. We joyfully explore a whole new world which includes "the power of prayer, faith, love; the cultivation of meekness, patience, compassion; the imitation of Christ's life. His character. His concern; the reception of promises, power, and inheritance of God" and much more.

As we grow old in God's love we attain an ever-deepening understanding of what it means to be a Christian. Then we can develop and exercise new-found talents for the benefit of man and the glory of God.

Finally, we can conquer personal sin and bring every thought under subjection, in obedience to Christ. This does not mean we have arrived, but are joyfully struggling along the road of life together with Christ.

The price of rebirth is accepting Christ, His life, death, and resurrection. It is willingness to "deny self, take up our cross" (as Christ did) and follow him.

'They need a new movie rating for moms. Mothers 50 and under must be accompanied by a child.'

Carl Lockmiller remembers

Editor's note: The following is the concluding chapter in the series documenting the early life of Glades pioneer Carl Lockmiller and his family.

As Told By CARL LOCKMILLER TO RUTH S. IRVIN

We opened our own hardware store at 517 West Avenue A in 1947. The reason I left Betsner was that I injured my back. I am slightly built and it became increasingly difficult to lift 200 pound gas tanks and big sacks of Purina feed. I stayed a year after my back injury but Laura and I began to make plans to open our own store.

We had saved $1500 and we sold our Pontiac car for $1500. We had bought three lots in the Holloway subdivision and we mortgaged them to get additional cash. Maude Stein was a good friend of ours and she knew a salesman for Belnap Hardware Wholesale and she vouched for us. It was through this recommendation that Belnaps helped us finance the store to the extent of $4,000. We paid off this debt at stated intervals. We rented the building at 517 West Avenue A from Avery Bass and we went into business.

I rode a bicycle to work for five years and both Laura and I walked. She would put Yvonne in the stroller and she and Charles would walk to the store where she helped me with the business.

We were finally able to buy a Ford pickup for $50.00 and we went everywhere in it for a long time. It was a luxury and we enjoyed the excursions we made in it with the children, very much. We rented a house near the Belle Glade Elementary School after awhile. We moved into the old Springer house in 1956 that had belonged to Mrs. Wedgeworth's mother and father, close by on Avenue F.

Charles and Yvonne had heard that it was for rent and they urged us to move there because some of their friends lived nearby. We rented it from Kenneth Bass for four years and then we bought it. It is a comfortable, well built house and we have always enjoyed living there. Continued on 5

Unusual animals of the Everglades

Alligators are not an uncommon animal in the Everglades region—we've always had them with us. Back in the early pioneer days the late Mrs. J.A. McGeehee's daughter, Gertrude Mabry, penned a whole bunch of little 'gators just for the fun of it. The family was living near Ritta at the time. Gertrude released the little fellows before they grew up, but she enjoyed them for a past-time, like other children might enjoy kittens.

There were some uncommon animals around, and H.L. Davis encountered one back in 1934. Walking in the woods he saw a rattlesnake so large he could hardly believe his eyes. It was so unusual, he decided not to kill it, but to capture it, teasing it to make it strike at the stick until it became tired. Time after time the snake struck, and when it seemed to weary a bit, Davis changed to a long forked stick, and pinned it to the ground just behind the head. With pliers he then extracted its fangs and took it home. It measured 5 1/2 feet long and seven inches in girth, and had 17 rattlers. Davis estimated its age at 17 years. He shipped it to the St. Louis Zoo, where it undoubtedly startled hundreds of visitors.

In the early 1940's A.A. Harrington was displaying hides of two black panthers, an unusual color for a panther. One had been killed by a hunter, the other was captured alive, but lived only a few days.

There have been other phenomenon of the Everglades—not of the animal kingdom.

Over Lake Okechobee in the early days of this century two pioneer women, Mrs. C.E. Thomas and Mrs. Jim O'Neal, witnessed a blinding light accompanied by the noise of a terrific explosion about dusk one evening. It was unlike anything seen or heard in the area before. Later Jim O'Neal and another fisherman found a large piece of strange rock-like material, so unusual it was sent to the Smithsonian institution which identifies it as a portion of a meteorite.

The Everglades area has yielded items of great anthropological significance at two sites in our area: the Belle Glade mounds and the Fort Center Site, 15 miles east and about 35 north of Clewiston respectively. At each of these sites recovered items have given evidence that human beings lived here in a somewhat organized society in the period one century before and one after the birth of Christ—an awesome thought.

A peculiar geological formation was the outcropping of rock at the headwaters of the Caloosahatchee River at the present site of Fort LaBelle. This rock formation created the "fall of Ft. Thompson" until it was removed by the dredges of Hamilton Diston in the 1880's, when he dredged a canal through to Lake Okechobee at the present site of Moore Haven.

There are plenty of rock areas around the river and its small tributaries; many are now used in landscaping where their graceful shapes and outlines formed by the action of water over centuries make them decorative and interesting items.

Resting beneath the waters of Lake Okechobee are many objects—lost machinery, sunken boats, an airplane or so, and the skeletal remains of countless numbers of persons. The skeletons have been seen over many years when a low lake lever gave better access to the lake bottom. The late Connally Hall as a young man decided to do a little farming on one of the islands during a low water period (this was prior to any levee work, and to his amazement ploughed up portions of several skeletons in a small area. Other pioneers have reported finding dozens of skeletons, including adults and children, in one spot, indicating some sort of disaster, but no one has found a reasonable solution to this puzzling find.

Less glamorous is the recovery of many bones, identified as portions of the skeletons of prehistoric animals.

In the 1960's Alex Hensley's dog turned up such a find while cleaning out a drainage canal on the Frierson Farm between Clewiston and Moore Haven. The find was believed to be part of the hipbone of an extinct animal, the giant sloth, and was pierced by a stone spearhead which was still lodged in the bone. Considerable excavation was done after this find, under direction of a professional paleontology at Florida Atlantic University, but nothing of further significance was found.

One of the area's "mysteries" is a "rock wall" deep in the swampy woods near Big Cypress Indian Reservation. It's a low wall, but definitely man-made for a purpose, though no one knows what the purpose was, or can estimate the time of its construction. No mortar is involved—it contains nothing but rocks, hundreds of them, though it is not located in a rocky area.

City looks for additional funds from gas tax

BELLE GLADE -If the Palm Beach County Commission approves a two-cent increase in the gas tax, the city could gain about $96,000 additional funds for street paving, according to Belle Glade City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang.

In a meeting Monday, June 25, city commissioners approved an interlocal agreement, showing their support for the increase to a four-cent tax. The county is scheduled to vote on the proposal Tuesday, July 10.

Strang told the City Commission that Belle Glade currently gets about one-third of gas tax revenues generated within the city to use for paving. Under the two-cent tax, city revenues amount to about $95,000, he said, adding he would expect the city's intake to double if the county approves a four-cent tax.

This year the city will be able to pave about three miles of streets within the city limits. Again, this figure should double if the county favors the four-cent tax, Strang estimated.

Belle Glade Mayor Thomas Altman recalled

the commission had supported the four-cent tax in the past, noting he still thought it was needed.

State law allows the four-cent tax, however county commissioners previously opted for the lower levy.

Strang said commissioners would decide in August which streets would be paved with gas tax revenues generated this year. Monies generated from a four-cent tax would not be touched until September 1985, he added.

In other city business:

Remar Harvin, planning and community development director, reported the city will use about $100,000, obtained through a federal jobs bill, to construct sidewalks along several streets in the southwest section of the city.

Sidewalks will be constructed along one side of Southwest Avenue F, between Southwest Second Street and Southwest Eighth Street; on Southwest Eighth Street, from Southwest Avenue F to Southwest Avenue E; on Southwest Sixth Street, from Southwest Avenue A to West Canal and on to Southwest Fifth Street.

Mayor Thomas Altman urged the quick completion of the sidewalks projects, saying, "Let's go full speed on the sidewalks and try and get it before school starts."

Harvin said work could begin almost immediately.

Commissioner Claude Tindall asked John Baker, city attorney, to draw up a resolution allowing the city to nullify the county's new ordinance which sets a 14-day waiting or "cooling off" period for those applying for gun permits.

"I think it's unfair to the citizens of the town and to those businessmen who sell handguns," Tindall said of the ordinance.

The new law would not prevent people from buying guns when they wanted them, Tindall said, but would simply force them to go to Clewiston or other nearby towns, thereby hurting local merchants.

Commissioners granted relief on off street parking requirements for two lots on the 200 block of West Avenue A. The commissioners were told the owners of the lots plan to build new clothing stores.

The commission approved the connection of the proposed First Baptist Church, at 17 N.W. Ave. B, to the city sewer system.

Carlos Pena, of Belle Glade, was appointed to the city's Annexation Committee.

Tim McKee submitted his resignation from the Municipal Golf Course Advisory committee.

Carter Electric keeps soft ball streak alive

CROSBY MOBILE HOME's Roger Britt streaks toward home in Belle Glade city softball action, Thursday, June 21.

BELLE GLADE—Carter Electric improved its record to 8-0 this week, becoming the only undefeated team in the Belle Glade City Softball League.

The C division leaders downed Royals 14-13, Monday, June 25, in an exciting game to maintain a comfortable lead over Wills Boys, 5-2 and Royals, 5-4.

Royals set the mood for the game in the first inning with a quick pair of runs off three hits. David Alexander contributed a pair of RBIs.

However, Carter Electric bested this effort in its own half of the first with eight runs. Brian Carter and Paul Allen both had two-run hits.

Royals added two runs in the second and then exploded for five in the third to pull within one run 10-9. Once again, Carter Electric bounced back with three runs in the third, spurred by Mark Orsengio's two RBIs.

A single by Joe Norman and a double by John Runkle helped Royals tally three runs over the fifth and sixth innings. And going into the final stanza, Carter Electric faced a two-run deficit.

Two consecutive hits sparked the winning rally which saw Doug Wedgworth tally the tying run and Kenny Cavine cross the plate with the game winner off a single from Denny Baughman.

Baughman went three for five for the game with a pair of runs batted in.

In B division action, Carter Chevrolet, 10-3, retained its slim lead over Ag Service, 9-2. Pahokee Merchants stayed in the thick of things at 7-3.

In other action Mace Sod lost its first game of the season last week, 7-6, to Glades General, Tuesday, June 19, while Glade and Grove marked up its first victory, 11-4, over E.F.E., Monday, June 25.

The week's complete results include:

Tuesday, June 19—Carter Electric 6, Sheriff's Department 3; E.F.E. 13, Everglades Memorial 9; Royals 10, Glade & Grove 7; Sugar Supply 10, Glades Sugar 6; Glades General 7, Mace Sod 6; All Stars 11, Ricky's Department Store 5.

Thursday, June 21—Everglades Memorial 29, Glade & Grove 4; Ag Service 4, Carter Mobile Home 1; Pahokee Merchants 11, Seminole Supply 2; F&W 16, No Names 0; Royals 9, E.F.E. 3.

Monday, June 25—Wills Boys 12, Sheriff's Department 9; Carter Electric 14, Royals 13; Glade & Grove 11, E.F.E. 4; Sugar Supply 15, Seminole Supply 9; Sonny's 19, Carter Chevrolet 16; Glade Sugar 24, No Names 13.

TERRY O'NEAL unleashes a throw for Crosby Mobile Homes.

AG SERVICE goes for a double play on the way toward a 4-1 victory over Crosby Mobile Homes, Thursday, June 21.

Wright submits resignation

BELLE GLADE—Head golf pro at the Belle Glade Country Club, John Wright has submitted his resignation to city commissioners.

Wright, 39, of 609 El Prado, apartment 1, said he plans to take a position, beginning July 23, as director of golf at the Wynmoor Village Golf Course in Coconut Creek, just outside of Pompano Beach.

"I've always said I wouldn't leave Belle Glade unless I got a really fantastic offer. I got a really fantastic offer," Wright said.

Golf pro at the Country Club for over six years, Wright said he really enjoyed his tenure with the city. "It's been great and I think we've made a lot of progress here," he said.

Wright said he was especially proud of the tournament schedule which has been developed at the golf course. He noted there were no tournaments when he first took over.

Mayor Thomas Altman, in accepting Wright's resignation at the City Commission meeting, Monday, June 25, said, "John has just done an outstanding job in the years he's been there."

The difference between the golf course now and six years ago is amazing, Altman added.

City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang said he is currently looking for another pro.

Adult medflies found

MIAMI, FLA.—Four adult Mediterranean fruit flies were discovered in a sour orange tree in downtown Miami Tuesday, June 19, afternoon, Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner announced.

The find brought imposition of a quarantine on an 81-square-mile area around the discovery site at 531 S.W. Eighth Court, which is near the Miami seaport and the Miami River. This is to prevent movement of host material.

Conner said the flies were confirmed as Medflies, one of the most dreaded pests, by examination in Gainesville Tuesday night. Harold Denmark, chief of entomology for the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, confirmed the identification.

Alumni band sets rehearsal

PAHOKEE—The Robert O. Lampi Alumni Band will meet in a rehearsal, Thursday, June 28, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Pahokee High School bandroom.

The band, which plans to march in the Freedom Festival Parade, Wednesday, July 4, held its initial rehearsal, Saturday, June 23.

Glades Skateworld trips offered

BELLE GLADE—As part of the city of Belle Glade's summer recreation program, buses will be travelling to and from Glades Skateworld every Wednesday.

Assistant Recreation

Director Mike Underwood said buses will depart from Lakeshore Park at 9 a.m. and will return at 12 a.m. Children will be charged $1. Any school age youth are eligible for the program.

A HOUSE ON THE MOVE. Neighbors Organized for Adequate Housing moved the old First Baptist Church office building to a lot on N.W. 10th St., Tuesday, June 26. For now, the house is sitting on the lot while the foundation is scheduled to be built. Belle Glade Building Inspector Barry Underwood said he expected to be able to issue a building permit, Wednesday, June 27 to allow construction of the foundation. City officials okayed NOAHS move, stressing that the building would have to be brought up to code before a certificate of occupancy is issued.

Post 20 American Legion officers installed

BELLE GLADE—Incoming officers of the American Legion Post 20 were officially installed during ceremonies, Sunday, June 24, at Legion Hall.

An appearance by incoming Florida Department Commander Rueben Hare provided the highlight of the banquet. Hare presented the post with the post of distinction award from national headquarters, recognizing the local unit's outstanding contributions.

Hare also asked legionnaires for their help in making the next year a successful one for the legion. "We're going to have a good year this year. I feel sure of it," he said.

Also during the ceremonies, outgoing post commander Fred Youchuck turned his gavel over to Ralph Marotta, incoming commander. Marotta presented Youchuck a plaque, noting his outstanding service to the post.

District Commander Roy Palmer, installation officer, also presented Youchuck with an honorary certificate of award.

Marotta told fellow post members, "Its going to take an awful lot of help throughout the year to keep this post going strong."

Other officers installed at Sunday's ceremonies included: Basil Cook, first vice president; Frank Primmer, second vice president; Jimmy Nelson, third vice president; Youchuck, treasurer; O.V. Huffstickler, historian; Steve Cook, chaplain; Mark Patton and Ed Turnbull, sergeant at arms; Barney Osteen, Bob Marrs and Chuck Elliot, executive committee members.

Luther Washington, department chaplain, also spoke at the banquet.

Post 33 officers, representing Clewiston, were also installed at the ceremonies.

Earlier in the day, officers for the Women's Auxiliary Post 20 were installed in ceremonies conducted by District President Jane Oliver.

Installing officers include: Andrea Marotta, president; Charlotte Prevatt, sergeant of arms; Nancy Moses, treasurer; Harriet Edwards, assistant sergeant of arms, and Ralph Primmer, executive committee.

OUTGOING POST COMMANDER Fred Youchuck passed the gavel of command to Ralph Marotta, at installation ceremonies, Sunday, June 24.

Addressing youth summer job problem

The Job Service of Belle Glade is looking to the community for solutions to the job needs of many area youth who will soon be out of school, many young people are looking for some kind of work which will give them a chance to earn some extra money, to learn new work skills, and to be productively occupied during their summer vacation hours.

An added financial incentive is available to employers who hire 16 and 17 year olds from lower income families - of 85 percent of the first $3,000 paid in any 90 day period of employment until Sept. 15 this year.

Any local employers who have summer job openings and want the benefit of a tax break, and any youth wanting to register for employment this summer, are encouraged to contact the local Job Service Office, 1500 N.W. Avenue L, Belle Glade (996-3067), or to call the toll-free JOBS line, 1-800-556-JOBS today.

MILITARY CEREMONY abounded at the installation ceremonies of the American Legion Post 20, held Sunday, June 24.

Chemistry course offered

A ten-week pre-college chemistry course will be offered by the Community School beginning June 25 and meeting on Mondays and Wednesdays from 6 to 9 p.m.

Those students needing high school credit will be awarded one credit upon successful completion of the course. Licensed practical nurses completing the course will be awarded contact hours.

Laboratory experience will be emphasized by the instructor Priscilla Neflen, a certified chemistry teacher and chairperson of the Glades Central Community High School Science Department. There will be no fee for the class and registration can be completed at the first class session. For further information call the Community School at 996-4950.

Church observes summer schedule

BELLE GLADE—Everglades Presbyterian Church is observing new summer hours for the months of June and July, according to Pastor David T. Evans.

The Sunday morning service will change from 11 a.m. to 9 a.m. The church is located at 1040 North Main Street, Belle Glade.

Benefit barbecue slated

BELLE GLADE—The American Legion, Post 20 and the Belle Glade Elks Club are joining forces for a benefit barbecue, Sunday, July 1 at the Elks Club.

The benefit is scheduled to raise funds for hospital bills for Roger Jenkins, a local man who has been ill recently.

The barbecue will be from noon to 6 p.m. Tickets are $5 for a chicken or pork dinner with all the trimmings.

arms; Andrea Marotta, president; Charlotte Prevatt, sergeant at arms; and Nancy Moses, treasurer.

Carpenter fund set up at hospital

PAHOKEE—A memorial fund has been started at Everglades Memorial Hospital to honor Dan Carpenter, a Longtime resident of Pahokee who died May 10 at the age of 87.

The fund was initiated by family members of Carpenter who wanted to show their appreciation to the local hospital for the quality care their father and grandfather had received while staying at the facility.

"The hospital was so good to Dan when he was here," wife Ruth Carpenter said. She said this was the family's way of showing their gratitude.

Hospital Administrator Don Anderson said the funds will be used for new services in the newly constructed and renovated part of the hospital.

Vance Denton, son-in-law of Mrs. Carpenter, said the fund was the idea of Dan's daughters and granddaughter, Carol Borgnaes of Ohio, his wife Dorothea and granddaughter Ellen Jo Burres of Franklin, North Carolina.

"This will not only help our city, it might be helping each one of us," Mrs. Carpenter said.

Duncan and Lillian Padgett of Pahokee also contributed to the fund in memory of Mr. Carpenter.

Mrs. Carpenter said she and her husband moved to Pahokee in 1935. Mr. Carpenter was a farmer and was the founder of the Carpenter Insurance Agency in Pahokee.

Anyone who wishes to contribute to the Carpenter Memorial Fund or desiring to open a memorial fund in memory of a loved one, according to Anderson, can do so at the hospital or through a special fund set up at the Bank of Pahokee.

Youth rally a success

BELLE GLADE—Over 100 people attended the youth rally held on drug abuse at the Belle Glade Civic Center, Thursday, June 14.

Ann Allen reported the rally was a success. "I've gotten a lot of positive responses from it," she said.

Several speakers shared their personal experiences in battling drug abuse. Allen said she hopes youth would meet in similar rallies in the near future.

THE BELLE GLADE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE'S Beautification Committee presented its Yard of the Month award for June to Emma

Men in service

Spec. 4 Eli Martin Jr., son of Ordean Martin of 549 S.W. Seventh St., Belle Glade, Fla., has received the parachutist badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga.

During the first week of training, students underwent a rigorous physical training program and received instruction in the theory of parachuting. The second week they received practical training by jumping from 34-foot and 250-foot towers. The final week included five staticline parachute jumps and one night jump.

Stephen M. Strickland, son of Kenneth A. Strickland of North Miami Beach, Fla., and Stella E. Turner of Belle Glade, Fla., was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation from the U.S. Military Academy, West Point, N.Y. May 23 and awarded a bachelor's degree in aerospace engineering.

The Military Academy is a four-year educational institution with the task of training young Americans to become professional Army officers. In addition to the military training, the academy stresses academics, intramural and intercollegiate athletics and other extracurricular activities.

The lieutenant is scheduled to attend an officer basic course at Fort Benning, Ga., before entering the Aviation Branch. He is a 1980 graduate of Glades High School, Belle Glade.

Pvt. Lenny K. Collins, son of Kay M. Nelson of 132 N.W. Ave. 1, Belle Glade, Fla., has completed one station unit training (OSUT) at the U.S. Army Infantry School, Fort Benning, Ga. OSUT is a 12-week period which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training.

The training included weapons qualifications, squad tactics, patrolling, landmine warfare, field communications and combat operations. Completion of this course qualifies the soldier as a light-weapons infantryman and as an indirect-fire crewman. Soldiers were taught to perform any of the duties in a rifle or mortar squad.

Airman 1st Class Jame W. Piper Jr., son of Vivian T. Piper of South Bay, Fla., has participated in Global Shield 84, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces.

The exercise, coordinated by the Air Force Strategic Air Command (SAC), was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of SAC to carry out orders should deterrence fail.

Piper is a fire protection specialist with the 2nd Civil Engineering Squadron at Barksdale Air Force Base, La.

His wife, Sherin, is the daughter of George T. and Fay Moon of 1420 Barna Ave., Titusville, Fla. He is a 1978 graduate of Dunnellon High School, Fla.

Airman Gardner M. Torrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Torrence Sr., of 816 S.W. Ave. G, Belle Glade, Fla., has graduated from the U.S. Air Force electrical power production course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas.

During the course, the students were taught to operate and maintain electrical power generation equipment. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Torrence is scheduled to serve with the 1965th Communications Squadron at Norton Air Force Base, Calif.

His wife, Gloria, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Smith of Rural Route 1, Clewiston, Fla. The airman received an associate degree in 1983 from National Institute of Technology, Lake Worth, Fla.

Pvt. Marvin Ivey, son of Mildred Ivey of Rural Route 1, Hiltonia, Ga., and Willie C. Ivey of Belle Glade, Fla., has completed the basic field artillery cannoneer course at Fort Sill, Okla.

During the course, students were taught the duties of a howitzer or gun section crewman. They also received instruction in communications, maintenance and the handling of ammunition and explosives.

Spec. 4 Windom K. Underwood, son of Windom and Margaret A. Underwood of 658 Bacom Point Road, Pahokee, Fla., has been decorated with the Army Achievement Medal at Fort Sill, Okla.

The Achievement Medal is awarded to soldiers for accomplishment, meritorious service or acts of courage. Underwood is a cannon crewman with the 2nd Battalion, 2nd Field Artillery.

He is a 1981 graduate of Pahokee Junior Senior High School.

Willi E. Wells Jr., son of Eugene and Lorine E. Wells of 901 S.W. Ave. H, Belle Glade, Fla., has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of senior airman.

Wells is an administration specialist at Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., with the 726th Tactical Control Squadron.

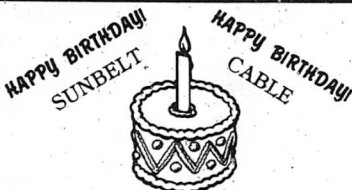

His wife, Tanya, is the daughter of Earl and Lee Badger of 4349 Pathfinder Ave., Cheyenne, Wyo. He is a 1980 graduate of Glades Central High School, Belle Glade.

Language student honored

BELLE GLADE --Melanie Lynn Lunsford was chosen a national award winner by the United States Achievement Academy for foreign language.

Lunsford will be a sophomore at Glades Central High School. She was nominated for the award by Glades Central Foreign Language teacher Michael Justice. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lunsford of Belle Glade.

Hurricane preparations:

Here's a checklist for hurricane survival

Before the Storm

1. COLLECT and place indoors all loose objects (garbage cans, furniture, tools, etc.) Lower and secure TV antennas. Bring mops and buckets indoors and keep handy.
2. BRACE WINDOWS and DOORS. Close shutters or awnings. Tape or board-up exposed windows. Stuff paper and rags around doors and windows to prevent water damage.
3. FOOD — Stock up with canned and dry packaged foods that will keep. Include a can-opener in your supplies.
4. WATER — Fill all available containers with water. This includes bathtub. Sterilize tub with boiling water and Clorox. Boil other containers for 10 minutes.
5. LIGHT AND HEAT — Flashlights and a good supply of batteries and bulbs are preferred for lighting. Avoid open-flame lighting whenever possible. FIRE IS A HAZARD DURING A HURRICANE — CHECK FIRE EXTINGUISHER. Be sure adequate fuel is on hand for cooking.
6. BOATS — Secure. Let air out of trailer tires and fill boat with water. Do not tie boat or trailer to the house.

7. CARS — Secure sufficient gasoline to go 250 to 300 miles without refueling in event evacuation is ordered. Check water and battery.
9. MOBILE HOMES — Proper tie-down procedures should be obtained in advance. Residents are advised not to remain in such homes during a tropical storm or hurricane.
9. MEDICINE — Check first aid supplies for Bandages, Adhesive Tape, Antiseptics, Spirits of Ammonia, etc. SPECIAL MEDICINES SHOULD BE ACQUIRED IN ADVANCE. These include insulin, nitroglycerin, etc. DON'T FORGET SPECIAL FORMULAS FOR BABIES.
10. INNOCULATIONS — Keep family's tetanus, typhoid and typhus inoculations up to date.

During the Storm

1. STAY INSIDE — Keep a door or window open on the side AWAY from the wind. Be quick to close it if the wind changes direction, and open one on the other side.
2. BE CAUTIOUS OF FIRES — Use flashlight instead of open flame candle or lamp whenever possible. Keep fire extinguisher handy.

3. DO NOT SPREAD RUMORS — Listen to your local radio for OFFICIAL advisories from the weather bureau.
4. THE EYE — Do NOT venture outside during the calm period during the storm.

After the Storm

1. BE CAUTIOUS — Conditions may be extremely hazardous. Keep strict supervision over children.
2. FALLEN WIRES — Do not touch fallen or hanging wires. Avoid puddles with fallen wires in them.
3. DRINKING WATER — Flooding may cause pollution of water supply. Use only drinking water that you know is clean until all-clear is given.
4. REFUSE and GARBAGE — Use lime to sterilize garbage and refuse.

Know the Warning Signals

TERMS FREQUENTLY USED

ADVISORY — A formal message from a Weather Bureau Hurricane Warning Center giving warning information, along with details on tropical cyclone location, intensity and movement, as well as precautions that should be taken.

BULLETIN — A public release for press, radio and TV from a Hurricane Warning Center, issued at times other than when advisories are required. The Bulletin gives the latest information on a disturbed area of tropical weather, or a potential, existing or dissipating tropical cyclone.

HURRICANE — A large revolving storm originating over tropical ocean waters with winds of 74 miles per hour or more, blowing counterclockwise around the center.

EYE OF THE STORM — The relatively calm area near the center of the storm. In this area winds are light and the sky is only partly covered by clouds.

GALE WARNING — When winds of 38-55 miles per hour are expected, a gale warning is added to the advisory message.

STORM WARNING — When winds of 55-74 miles per hour are expected, a storm warning is added to the advisory message.

HURRICANE WATCH — If the hurricane continues its advance and threatens coastal and inland regions, a hurricane watch is added to the advisory, covering a specified area and duration. A hurricane watch means that hurricane conditions are a real possibility; it does not mean they are imminent. When a hurricane watch is issued, everyone in the area covered by the watch should listen for further advisories and be prepared to act quickly if hurricane warnings are issued.

HURRICANE WARNING — When hurricane conditions are expected within 24 hours, a hurricane warning is added to the advisory. Hurricane warnings identify coastal areas where winds of at least 74 miles per hour are expected to occur. A warning may also describe coastal areas where dangerously high water or exceptionally high waves are forecast, even though winds may be less than hurricane force.

WARNING FLAGS

Levee safe, say water experts

By JIM JONES
Glades area residents enjoy the safety of some of the most efficient water control facilities in the world.

It wasn't always so. In the 1920s, hundreds died in Moore Haven and western Palm Beach County when killer storms blew in from the Caribbean.

Today, the centerpiece of Glades area water control facilities is the 219-mile levee which encircles Lake Okeechobee.

The levee was most seriously threatened in 1947 when hurricane winds pushed lake water perilously close to the top of the dike near Pahokee.

"It came up within eight to 10 feet of the top," said Duncan Padgett, mayor of Pahokee. "Since then, it (the levee) has been built up. I never had any doubt that it would hold. I feel real good about the safety of the levee."

Maintenance and improvement of the levee is a continuing process.

Mike Grundy, Clewiston Area Engineer for the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, says two projects are currently underway, wherein about 40,000 tons of rock are being used to reinforce nine miles of the levee.

Three more contracts will be awarded later this year for three areas: 1. Moore Haven and S-4, 2. Bacom Point, and 3. Five miles north of Port Mayacca.

Currently, Corps contractors are working on an area between Port Mayacca and Canal Point.

Grundy says the levee is in "good shape" for the hurricane season. The major worry would be in the event of two or three major hurricanes hitting the levee in a row.

The lake's pumping facilities are "top notch," Grundy said. One area of hurricanes are a concern, but not for safety's sake.

The hurricane gates are outdated for use as water control structures, but work efficiently for the purpose designed: hurricane gates, he said.

"We're starting a program to replace them with spillways," said Grundy.

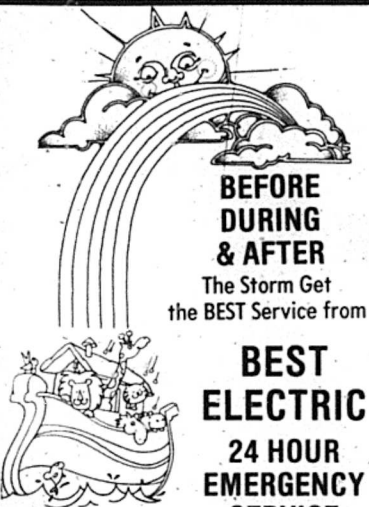

Sheila Middaugh of the South Florida Water Management District said the lake has extra storage capacity at the current time as the lake is slightly below schedule.

Middaugh expressed confidence in lake drainage facilities to handle flood waters. "The system is well maintained and in constant use," she said. "It's a system that has proven itself over the years. It doesn't mean that we wouldn't have any flooding, but we could handle the peaks."

Experts are divided on what the hurricane season of 1984 will bring. One school of thought holds this will be an active year for hurricanes. Another cites conditions in the jet stream in predicting a calm year.

Whatever hurricane season awaits local residents, drainage experts are confident the levee will protect them.

What to do in the event of a hurricane

This is the year of the hurricane for South Florida, according to an internationally renowned meteorologist.

Dr. Neil Frank, a hurricane expert, said there are indications of returning weather patterns of 30 to 40 years ago, when this area averaged two to three of the storms a year.

Glades County Civil Defense Director Gerry Harris said these were among Frank's remarks at a hurricane prevention seminar Thursday in Ft. Myers. Frank is of the National Hurricane Center.

And a long-time forecaster with the National Weather Service has predicted some storms will hit an area that the Glades lies in, according to Judi Kennington, deputy director of the Hendry County Civil Defense Department.

The forecaster, according to Kennington, has said nine to 13 tropical storms will strike an area from Portland, Maine, to the Yucatan, which is in Mexico. Also, five to nine hurricanes will hit that area, he predicted.

Kennington said the forecaster has been with the weather service for 35 years and is 85 percent accurate.

"I feel very comfortable that with his track record, he knows what he is talking about," she said.

A hurricane is a tropical storm with winds of 74 or more miles per hour, is born either in the Caribbean Sea or off the African coast and moves west or northwest, Kennington said.

Nothing can stop a hurricane. But people can minimize the havoc the killer storms bring.

Judi Kennington, deputy director of the Hendry County Civil Defense Department, and Gerry Harris, Glades County Civil Defense Director, give some tips for area residents.

The first is crucial due to the area mobile home concentration: trailer dwellers must wait out the storm in a solid building-homes of relatives or friends, or in a public shelter.

"Anyone living in structures unsound must evacuate," Kennington said. "Mobile homes are not designed to withstand winds of hurricane force. They collapse."

People in low lying areas should find higher ground. Hurricanes can mean flooding. Because the below ground water table in the area is near the surface, the earth only absorbs a limited quantity of water, Kennington said.

For those who don't live in a mobile home or in low lying areas, Kennington said they must judge whether their residence can withstand the powerful winds.

If not, there are public shelters (see lists elsewhere in section). Some things to remember before trekking off to one.

Storm recommendations

Public shelters do not provide food. People are advised to bring ample fresh drinking water and non-perishable dry food, pillows, blankets, a change of clothing, formula and diapers for babies and medical supplies. Drinking alcohol, firearms and pets are prohibited.

Gerry Harris suggested people not store water in milk jugs, which often breed bacteria. Containers can be bought in stores.

People on medication should obtain at least a five day-advance supply, Kennington said. A storm could damage drugstores. Or a doctor or pharmacist might not be available if a storm is approaching.

Kennington urges Hendry County disabled citizens to register with the civil defense offices in Clewiston or LaBelle. Invalids, crippled people or those on life support needing evacuation assistance could be helped more easily if their name and address was on file, she said.

Homes should be secured also. Loose items in yards, such as garbage cans and potted plants, should be brought from outside.

"Things that would become a target or missile in high winds," Kennington said.

She said people should check their insurance, to see whether they have ample coverage if homes are damaged.

Gerry Harris advised people with turbine ventilators to place caps over the sleeves. The heads should be removed and stored if a storm is coming. Hardware stores can give residents proper directions, Harris said. He said the ventilators, too, could become missiles in high winds.

Windows should be taped, not to prevent breakage but to minimize glass shattering. Closing of drapes is another safety measure.

Kennington also said freezers should be put on their highest setting and covered with blankets to contain cold if the electricity goes out. To warm food, canned heat or barbecue grills with briskets will do the job, she said.

Putting valuables in a safety deposit box is another good idea, she said.

All family members should know what to do and where to go if a hurricane strikes, and they should know what to bring with them, Kenington said.

Some of these suggestions can be carried out right now to insure proper preparation, she said.

"Now's the time people should be getting ready to protect their homes.

"If people are more comfortable with their homes, they should stay there," Kennington said. "People tend to be more secure in their homes. They know there won't be any looting. And there is looting in Hendry County.

"If people have ample food and water, it would be more feasible if they do stay there," she said.

Kennington said people must have radios-battery-operated in case of power outage-and tune into local stations for broadcasts on current weather conditions.

Evacuation is another alternative. Kennington said surveys have shown a lot of Hendry Countians will not leave the area, but those who do go can head for Highlands, Polk or Lake counties if room is available.

Harris said U.S. 27, north, is a major evacuation route when hurricanes are coming from the south. Lakeport residents can take SR 78 south to 27; Buckhead Ridge dwellers can take 78 north to 27.

Harris said Glades County could be evacuated in about 10 hours.

If a hurricane strikes, the Army Corps of Engineers will put a 24-hour patrol on the levee and will report to civil defense if any areas bordering the lake are threatened, Harris said.

Each civil defense department will work with their county's sheriff's office and other agencies to best serve residents during the crisis.

MOORE HAVEN residents were dazed and frightened after the 1926 hurricane, took the lives of an estimated 200 people in the area. This picture, apparently taken either Sunday, September 19, 1926 or the following Monday before the town was ordered evacuated, shows survivors in downtown Moore Haven, wading through the still-deep water. The two story buildings in this picture saved many lives.

Fact sheet on hurricanes

During the past 25 years more than 30 hurricanes have hit the United States, leaving in their wake over 1,200 dead. Still, an estimated four out of five people living along the nation's coastline from Texas to Maine have never experienced a hurricane. Some are lucky; most others have not lived in the area long enough to realize the risk.

On the average, a killer hurricane [with winds over 130 mph] strikes the U.S. once every five years. The only one we've had in the last 20 years, however, was CAMILLE in 1969 which took 255 lives. We are long overdue for the next one.

One of the worst single disasters in our nation's history was a hurricane that swept across Galveston Island, Texas in 1900, killing as estimated 6,000 people.

It does't take a "killer" hurricane to inflict widespread damage. With winds of less than 45 mph, AGNES battered more than a dozen states from Florida to New York in 1972 and became the costliest hurricane in U.S. history with over $2 billion homeowner's or business insurance policies.

Unknown to many people, the most deadly part of a hurricane is usually the storm surge. This is a huge dome of water reaching up to 25 feet above sea level that sweeps across the coastline near the point of where a hurricane makes landfall. Nine out of ten people who die in a hurricane are killed by the storm surge.

Flooding is often the most destructive part of a hurricane, yet less than 15 years ago, flood insurance was not available to most property owners because of the high risk involved. Today, nearly two million people have this coverage on their building and contents through the National Flood Insurance Program [NFIP]. Since this is a federal program, you cannot be turned down for a policy because of where you live in an approved community [over 17,000 flood prone communities are now participating in the NFIP].

There is normally a 5-day waiting period from the time a policy is written until it goes in effect. This coverage can be purchased from any licensed property/casualty insurance agent or broker...the same person who sells your home and auto policies.

Hurricane preparedness discussed

By BRENDA BUNTING

BELLE GLADE
--With weathermen predicting the possibility of more hurricanes this season, local and county officials discussed preparedness, Wednesday, June 13.

B.T. Kennedy, director of emergency management for the county, discussed problems which could arise if the Glades was invaded by a category four hurricane (a hurricane with wind velocity ranging from 131-155 mph).

"When I am in the Glades and I talk about hurricanes, as a general rule, there is worry about the Hoover Dike," Kennedy said. The Army Corp of Engineers plays an important role in the safety of people who live in the shadow of the Hoover Dike, he added.

"The dike is being maintained and the water level is going to be kept at a safe level," Kennedy said. The Corp of Engineers was doing a good job and deserved a lot of credit, he commented.

A major problem facing Glades residents, in event of a hurricane, is lack of adequate shelter.

"You have a large number of trailer parks," Kennedy said. "They must evacuate in a hurricane.

"You have got to help me sell the people on the fact that they can't stay in a mobile home."

The emergency management office recently conducted a hazard vulnerability survey. In Palm Beach County, according to Kennedy, 25 percent of the people have indicated they would not evacuate, despite the threat of an incoming hurricane.

"We're just as concerned about a farmer out in the field as we are a man in a coat and tails on Clematis Street, (in West Palm Beach)," Kennedy said.

Many Glades residents say they won't evacuate because of the risk of looting, he said. However, the National Guard would be brought in to maintain order.

He said co-tran busses would also be made available to local residents.

Chief of Police D. Bill Mathis voiced concern that evacuation for the coastal areas seems to be inward, toward Belle Glade.

"We tell them to go north, not west," Kennedy said. "The people coming up US 27 are the ones that are going to give you trouble."

He told the group the Glades is the only part of Palm Beach County which has an Emergency Operations System (EOS).

"You are isolated a long way from nowhere in case of a hurricane," Kennedy said, adding Glades residents were fortunate to have the EOS.

One of the most serious problems is knowing when and where to order an evacuation, according to Kennedy.

"We need 24 hours, but the hurricane center can only give us 12 hours. We'll give information based on our best," Kennedy said.

"I'd rather be accused of ordering an evacuation and be wrong, than take no action and get a lot of people killed."

He said people were complacent of hurricanes in South Florida because of Hurricane David. "David Continued on 11

Reduce your hurricane risks

ATLANTA—Spring, summer, fall, winter! Everyone knows those are the four seasons of the year. Right?

Not quite.

You could say that there's a fifth. It's longer and it's potentially devastating. It's the hurricane season. It starts in June and lasts through November and is especially dangerous to Atlantic and Gulf Coast states.

Since 1958, there have been 32 hurricanes which have struck the continental United States, leaving in their wake 848 dead.

While there is nothing anyone can do to move a house out of the path of a hurricane, there are some suggestions for protecting life and limb and reducing damage. These include:

--Leave low-lying areas that may be swept by high tides and waves. If your escape route is over a road likely to be covered by water or likely to be congested, don't delay evacuation any longer than necessary.

--If you live in a mobile home, check your tie-downs and leave for a more substantial shelter. If your mobile home can be moved, take it to a safe place.

--Moor your boat or move it to a place where it will be safe.

--Board up your windows, protect them with storm shutters or place tape on them from one corner diagonally to another.

--Secure all outdoor objects that might be blown around. This includes garbage cans, garden tools, toys, signs, porch furniture and other seemingly harmless items that can become missiles of destruction in a hurricane.

--Have at least one flashlight in good condition, with extra batteries readily available.

--Check your portable radio. This may be your only link with the outside world for some time. It will keep you advised of the storm's progress.

--Stock a generous supply of drinking water, extra canned goods and nonperishable foods.

If you rely on medicines of any kind, make sure that you have an extra supply.

If your home, apartment or business is damaged:

--Notify your insurance representative of any losses and leave word where you may be contacted.

--Make temporary repairs to protect from further damage or looting. Use reliable contractors and keep all receipts for work done. Most insurance policies cover reasonable expenses.

--Be patient. Losses will be adjusted and claims paid as quickly as possible, but hardship cases are usually handled first. Also, remember that policy forms differ and storm damage is often erratic, so don't assume that your settlement will be the same as your neighbor's.

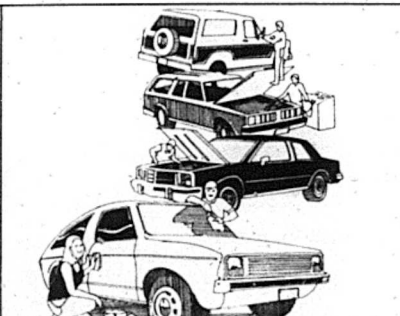

--Be cooperative with local police and emergency personnel. It takes a team effort to clean up after a hurricane.

Safety tips for hurricane season

There are a number of precautionary measures that can be taken during the threat of a hurricane. The following actions have been suggested by the Federal Emergency Management Agency to help you safeguard life and property during this year's hurricane season.

-Check to see that you have an adequate supply of nonperishable food, first aid kit, fire extinguisher, battery-powered radio, flashlights and extra batteries.

-Keep materials like sandbags, plywood, plastic sheeting and lumber on hand to protect the outside of a home or business. Never stack sandbags directly against a building since, when wet, they can create added pressure on the structure.

-Maintain an itemized list of your personal possessions and all insurance policies in a safe, dry place. Photographs of your home, inside and out, will help in settling claims and prove uninsured losses, which are tax deductible.

-Ask your insurance agent or broker about national flood insurance, which is sponsored by the federal government. Many people are still unaware that a standard homeowners policy will

IF FLOODING APPEARS LIKELY:

-A clean supply of drinking water should be stored in sinks, bathtubs and jugs. You can sanitize these containers by first rinsing them with bleach.

-Board up windows or protect them with storm shutters or tape to prevent flying glass. Also secure outdoor objects such as garbage cans and patio furniture to keep them from being swept away or hurled about.

-Floodwaters often rise no more than two feet above the first flood level of a house, so try to move personal belongings and appliances at least that high wherever possible.

-Since utilities may be shut off during a disaster, it is a good idea to pull all main fuses and close the primary gas valve in your home.

-Have a battery-powered radio tuned to a local station and follow all emergency instructions. When authorities advise you to evacuate, do so immediately.

-If it is safe to leave by car, bring along a supply of nonperishable food, first aid kit, flashlight, blankets and dry clothing [extra socks and shoes in particular]. Don't forget any special medication or diet foods needed by your family. Keep your car fueled since gas stations may be inoperable after a storm hits, and avoid roads that cross over streams or are in low lying areas.

-Once a hurricane strikes, remain indoors-travel is extremely dangerous and blowing debris can injure or kill. Be wary of the hurricane's "eye" when it passes overhead. A lull in weather can last up to a half hour or more before the winds return to hurricane strength, this time coming from the opposite direction.

The above tips are meant as suggested guidelines only. If you are in doubt as to what should be done, always consult with a disaster official or people trained in the area of concern.

Coping with disaster: steps to take after the hurricane strikes

Knowing how to protect your home and its contents after a major storm can reduce property losses and save many valued possessions.

The following suggestions are provided by the Federal Emergency Management Agency. Remember, these are only guidelines. If you are uncertain about what to do, always consult with a disaster official or people trained in the area of concern.

Prior to entering a building, check for structural damage. Make sure it is not in danger of collapsing. Turn off any outside gas lines at the meter or tank, and let the house air for several minutes to remove foul odors or escaping gas.

Upon entering the building, do not use open flame as a source of light since gas may still be trapped inside; a battery-operated flashlight is ideal.

Watch for electrical shorts or live wires before making certain that the main power switch is turned off. Do not turn on any lights or appliances until an electrician has checked the system for short circuits.

Proceed with immediate cleanup measures to prevent any health hazards. Perishable items which pose a health problem should be listed and photographed before discarding. Throw out fresh food and previously opened medicines that have come in contact with floodwaters.

Water for drinking and food preparation should be boiled vigorously for ten minutes (until the public water system has been declared safe). Another method of disinfecting is to mix 1/4 teaspoon of liquid commercial laundry bleach with 2½ gallons of water...let stand for five minutes before using. The flat taste can be removed by pouring the water from one container to another or adding a pinch of salt. In an emergency, water may be obtained by draining a hot water tank or melting ice cubes.

Refrigerators, sofas and other hard goods should be hosed and kept for the ajuster's inspection. A good deodorizer when cleaning major kitchen appliances is to add one teaspoon of baking soda to a quart of water. Any partially damaged items should be dried and aired; the adjuster will make recommendations as to their repair or disposal. Take pictures of the damage done to your building and contents. Take all wooden furniture outdoors, but keep it out of direct sunlight to prevent warping. A garage or carport is a good place for drying. Remove drawers and other moving parts as soon as possible, but do not pry open swollen drawers from the front. Instead, remove the backing push the drawers out.

Shovel out mud while it is still moist to give walls and floors a chance to dry. Once the plastered walls have dried, brush off the loose dirt. Wash with a mild soap solution and rinse with clean water; always start at the bottom and work up. Ceilings are done last. Special attention at this early stage should also be paid to cleaning out heating and plumbing systems.

Mildew can be removed from dry wood with a solution of 4 to 6 tablespoons of trisodium phosphate [TSP], 1 cup liquid chlorine bleach, and 1 gallon water.

Clean metal at once then wipe with a kerosene-soaked cloth. A light coat of oil will prevent iron from rusting. Scour all utensils, and, if necessary, use fine steel wool on unpolished surfaces. Aluminum may be brightened by scrubbing with a solution of vinegar, cream of tartar, and hot water.

Quickly separate all laundry items to avoid running colors. Clothing or household fabrics should be allowed to dry [slowly, away from direct heat] before brushing off loose dirt. If you cannot get to a professionally cleaner, rinse the items in lukewarm water to remove lodged soil. Then wash with mild detergent; rinse and dry in sunlight.

Flooded basements should be drained and cleaned as soon as possible. However, structural damage can occur by pumping out the water too quickly. After the floodwaters around your property have subsided, begin draining the basement in stages, about 1/4 of the water volume each day.
